Maths and Physics

Unlike most of the population, I have always enjoyed Maths and Physics, seeing questions as puzzles to solve, so these subjects were obvious choices for my A Levels. From there, Further Maths and Chemistry seemed a clear fit.

Although I initially wanted to do Economics, I think I’ve ended up with a set of courses that works for me and has given me a good base for university applications.

The Sixth Form Centre is a great community to be a part of and the building itself provides great facilities along with sociable and relaxed places to study.
